

Eric Greene – Sailing Experience

Mr. Greene is a world-renowned naval architect & marine engineer focusing on the field of marine composites. He has lectured nationally and abroad on the topic and brings his knowledge of marine composites to understanding loads and structural response of composite vessels while operating offshore. Mr. Greene is a 1979 graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and skippered big boat regattas for the MIT sailing team.

Racing Experience

The following is a partial list of offshore and inshore racing events for which Mr. Greene has been skipper, watch captain or helmsman/sail trimmer over the last 37 years.

- Three Newport-Bermuda races (including 1972 Overall Performance Winner)
- Two Fastnet Races (including 1979 as part of US Admiral's Cup team)
- Annapolis-Bermuda (Offshore Trophy Winner)
- Five SORC campaigns
- Annapolis-Newport Race
- Six years of Long Island Sound & New England racing, including Block Island and Vineyard races
- New York Yacht Club cruise Commodore's Cup Winner
- Twenty years of racing on the Chesapeake, including runner-up in the 2006 National Hospice regatta
- ¾ ton North American Championship winner (Jonathon McKee-skipper)
- Puget Sound racing including Straits of Juan da Fuca races
- Runner-up in two collegiate McMillian Cup regattas and one Kennedy Cup regatta

Cruising Experience

Mr. Greene has served as a boat captain for cruising and deliveries in the following geographic areas:

- Long Island Sound
- New England, including Maine
- Florida and the Bahamas
- Caribbean and Bermuda
- Puget Sound Area
- Europe from Finland to Spain
- Chesapeake Bay
- Offshore from Florida to New York